

Charles Armstrong 2010 Summer School Program

Morning classes and afternoon activities for students identified with language-based learning differences

What CAS's Summer School Classes Offer

At Charles Armstrong School, our summer academic program is specifically designed for students with language-based learning differences. During the summer, we provide a morning program giving students the opportunity to brush up on their skills in a 19-day program focused on reading, writing and mathematics for grades one through six. Students registered in the seventh and eighth grades focus on high school preparation. Our summer school classes are offered to CAS's ongoing students, are required for students newly entering CAS in the fall of 2010, and are open to students from other schools who will be entering grades one through eight. Summer school gives students who struggle with reading, writing and math a chance to benefit from Charles Armstrong School's unique approach to learning along with small group instruction.

Our highly trained summer school faculty offers a simultaneous, multi-sensory approach to language instruction.

Dates, Times and Deadlines

Summer school is offered in one session from July 6 through July 30, 2010 at Charles Armstrong School's campus at 1405 Solana Drive in Belmont. Morning classes take place from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and Camp Armstrong, the afternoon program, is offered between 12:30 and 4:00 p.m.

Summer savings/early registration deadline: March 1, 2010. All registration forms are due April 23, 2010. Summer school begins July 6, 2010.

Offerings For Students Entering Grades 1-8

Class 1 Getting Ready to Learn. In this all-morning class, students entering the first grade will be exposed to the fundamentals of learning so their fall experience can be a good one.

Classes 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 Brushing Up on Basic Skills. These are grade-specific all-morning classes for students entering grades two through six in the fall. Students will discover the joys of reading, writing and math. Our program integrates technology and offers all aspects of reading, writing and mathematics as appropriate for each grade level.

- Reading: covers phonemic awareness, decoding, spelling, fluency and comprehension
- Writing: includes the writing process and different types of writing
- Mathematics: brushing up on basic math skills

Classes 7 and 8 High School Prep. This all-morning class provides students entering the seventh- and eighth-grade with skills essential for success as they prepare for the transition to high school. The course will focus on writing, study skills and keyboarding skills, along with SSAT and HPST preparation and instruction on how to interview.

Camp Armstrong/Groups 9 and 10 Each afternoon, Camp Armstrong provides a structured program with sports, arts and crafts, swimming and field trips. To suit all age levels, there is a lower school camp for students entering grades one through five (Group 9), and a middle school camp for students entering grades six through eight (Group 10). The camp's goal is to build self-confidence, self-expression, leadership, sportsmanship and teamwork, all in the spirit of fun.
